

An object with a story

Name _____ Date _____

Choose a classroom object or one of the projected pictures. Invent a story; you never need to share a private memory.

1 Notice five things you can actually see

Example: a key has a round hole and two long scratches. A guess such as "it is lost" is not a visible detail.

2 Plan three story beats

Beginning - Who is here? Where? What do they want?

Turning point - What changes? What choice do they make?

Ending - What happens because of that choice?

3 Tell, listen, improve

Tell for 60-90 seconds. Your partner names the beginning, turning point and ending, then asks one clear question. Switch roles.

My listener asked: _____

I made this clearer: _____

Finish: Write six sentences on the back or in your notebook. Check the sequence, two exact details and one improvement.

Listen and keep the source

Name _____ Date _____

Record the source before listening. Listen once without notes. Afterward, add one supported idea and one question. Follow the source's sharing guidance.

Source title _____

Speaker or author _____

Community/context exactly as named _____

Host or source route _____

Format _____ Date accessed _____

If information is missing, write "not stated". Do not guess.

HEARD - One idea the source supports, if recording it is permitted.

INTERPRETED - My thinking about it. Label this as my interpretation.

WONDERED - One question I still have.

One sharing boundary: _____

Partner check: Is the source named accurately? Are hearing and interpretation separate? Keep this card in class. Do not copy or repost story content.

Listen closely to a place

Name _____ Date _____

Stay at the spot your teacher chooses. Listen for 20 seconds with eyes open or closed. You can stay indoors or observe from a seat.

Model: NEAR - pencil, tik-tik, two taps. MIDDLE - cart, rrr-stop, moving left. FAR - rain, shhhh, steady behind a window.

NEAR - What do you hear close by?

MIDDLE - What do you hear farther away?

FAR - What do you hear in the distance?

Observation: "A wheel rumbled and stopped." Guess: "Someone was in a hurry." Mark guesses with a question mark.

One observation: _____

One guess or question: _____

Make a place postcard

On the back, write about 100 words or plan a 45-second soundscape. Include three exact details. Ask a partner which detail helped them picture or hear the place.

My revised sentence: _____

Show your thinking

Name _____ Date _____

Use this page after a reading, a maths task or an investigation. Point, draw, label or write. Your teacher chooses the task.

Today's text or problem: _____

My idea or answer

Evidence or working - Show an exact detail, calculation or labelled diagram.

Why it fits - Explain how the evidence or working supports your idea.

One question or next step: _____

Example (fictional text): Mina leaves an envelope unopened. I think she respects privacy because she takes it to the office without reading what is inside.
